Institutional Publication Metrics for Computer Science

Prospective students, parents, faculty, and university administration use rankings to make decisions. CSrankings.org is GOFTO-ranking compliant. It seeks to inform the process by creating better rankings based on more accurate, more up-to-date, and more comprehensive data. Institutions can self-submit additional data to supplement support partial or missing data, such as area-specific grants.

Faculty, tech, research, student graduation rates, and PhD placements are some of the potential data points.

To start, select disciplines (category), and optionally filter by region, venue weightings, and venue list, and then wait for the institutional metrics to update. See our quick start guide and FAQs on how to use the tool.
